Julie Ryan, noted psychic and medical intuitive, is ready to answer your personal questions, even those you never knew you could ask. For more than 25 years, as she developed and refined her intuitive skills, Julie used her knowledge as a successful inventor and businesswoman to help others. Now she wants to help you to grow, heal and get the answers you've been longing to hear. Do you have a question for someone who's transitioned? Do you have a medical issue? What about your pet's health or behavior? Perhaps you have a loved one who's close to death and you'd like to know what's happening? Are you on the path to fulfill your life's purpose, no matter where you are in the world? Take a journey to the other side and ask Julie Ryan.

0:00:44 - Julie

Hi everybody, Welcome to the Ask Julie Ryan show. I'm so delighted you could join us today because we have Dr Irvin Laszlo with us. He is the godfather of quantum consciousness, in my opinion. Dr Laszlo, thanks so much for taking the time to join us.

0:01:01 - Ervin Laszlo

Julie, it's my pleasure. I've been known so much about you. It's a delight to speak with you in person.

0:01:09 - Julie

Oh, thank you, I'm honored. Let's just get right into it. You were nominated twice for the Nobel Peace Prize and you've published 106 books and over 400 articles and research papers. Where did all that information originate? Did you channel it? Do you have some kind of special powers? My gosh, all that brilliance in one body, tell us about. Where did all that come from?

0:01:35 - Ervin Laszlo

I had a very difficult childhood. In the sense this was wonderful, but not an ordinary childhood. I was taking it out to school when I was already nine or 10 years old. I never really went to school since then. I was a piano prodigy and so my life was music and performing music. That's how it all over the world when I was 15 already, having been to Hungary and moved to New York, and that background in music separated me from the ordinary everyday life, the proceedings, one year after another, for going to school and following the road. So it was somewhat a special existence, and this existence liberated me. It got me to thinking what am I doing? Who am I? There were no pet answers, because I was moving around in the world and I was understood to be a concert pianist, but I didn't want to spend the rest of my life playing the piano for people. I wanted to understand what it is that I'm doing, what am I? What is this world like? Very big question, and so I started reading up on it.

I started taking courses at Columbia University, then in Munich, Germany, and asking questions of young people that I met with and professors and so on, and that started writing down my thoughts, and I never thought that my thoughts would be of interest, my writings would be of interest to anybody else. I just wanted to write because I thought I want to understand. But then, by accident, after one of my concerts, I met a man who talked to me about this and asked to see if I wrote anything down. I gave it to him. He disappeared, which was in a dining room after a concert in the Hague in Holland, and next morning he showed up and said we've begun to publish it. And I said who are you? I didn't know. He turned out to be an editor, but not with a famous publishing house. Martin was now helping Holland, so he published my book. He worked on it for another year. My notes to make it into a proper book form. This was in 1963.

In 1963, my first book appeared and that was a beginning of a complete change of life for me. I was no longer a pianist, I became a hobby. I became an academician. I became a professor of philosophy, then in New Haven, in Yale, and then in Princeton and then New York State University, and then this became a second phase in my career. You see, nothing was an ordinary kind of a life procedure. One year after another.

It was another special way, but I always talk to this. I always talk to trying to find out what's happening. What can I do that makes sense for my life? I'm still doing that. I'm still proceeding on that. Now I'm in company with many people who follow me, who work with me, who are partnering with me, and so this gives me a great deal of satisfaction. I'm dedicating my life to helping the human species, helping humanity to live well and to create a bright future on this planet, and I find many people who are supporting me. I've started a movement called the World Upshift Movement that's running very well. I'm just now launching another movement called the Humanities Safe Redmission Movement, because I claim that we do have a safe red mission. What humanity is here for the planet? For what is it that we need to do? So all of these things are excited. They're not ordinary kinds of things, and I always pursue what I thought was important and interesting in life.

0:05:36 - Julie

Where did you? Was it like you just started thinking about this stuff and then the ideas came to you and you were led from one thing to the next, to the next, to the next? What's the process? What did you find was your process for really bringing in this information?

0:05:54 - Ervin Laszlo

Well, you know, I had to document the ideas that came to me, but the ideas flew, kept flowing, coming in. They still do. I still sit down to write and to have a key idea. I try to work it out and they start flowing, and so I'm not really claiming that I'm really authoring all that. I'm not really writing, creating all that is coming, but I'm elaborating it and I am producing the background documentation to make it credible.

I just wrote a new article, which I finished yesterday, which is the Seneca around the best for a symposium that I'll be organizing in February. It's the secret humanity, secret missions symposium, and I wrote the keynote paper on it about life in the universe, showing the science for the, showing what our life is emerging in the universe and the mission of humanity. So that's the title and I mean a lot of this came to me, but I'm back, I'm researching the background, I'm still researching the supports for it, so I'm just totally just singing in the air. I try to convince people. This is not just a personal insight, there is something deeper behind it, and so the inasmuch as I've helped with that, helped by a big flow coming through me, I'm very grateful for that and I don't hesitate to follow it. So there it is. The startup comes to me, but then the follow-up is with me and from me.

0:07:33 - Julie

Don't you think that that's what every inventor and every composer and every author is doing at the end of the day? And then we get these ideas and they're coming from God or Spirit or Source, or whatever you want to call it and then we work on that.

0:07:50 - Ervin Laszlo

When we get an idea, absolutely what else is the courage to do that and not to be frightened by the way? Well, these are big questions. How can I answer them? The only way to try use one's intuition.

Einstein said intuition and imagination is more important than reasoning and intelligence. I think it's at least as important. We have to come, we have confidence in the fact that we are embedded in an information field, the quantum field, which conveys and conserves all the information in the world, and we can tap into that field. It's a deep resource, it's in us, and the big task, the big job for humanity is not to hesitate to go into one's creative resources, because there we will find the answer how to move behind the crisis, beyond the crisis, and move and create a more peaceful and more cooperative world, because in us is this tendency to cooperate, to work with people, to find out what there is behind the surface, behind the facades. I think all that is actually in us. We have to tap into it and I'm trying to show that this can be done and if we do it, we will find a way up what I call the upshift, a global upshift beyond the current crisis prone and crisis open world that is threatening us but, at the same time giving us the opportunity to change, because we know and this doesn't go like this anymore it has got to change.

And now there is an opening. Now much of humanity is beginning to feel itself, to begin to see itself as a planetary species, as having something to do together. Humanity has something to do with the way we evolve, with the way the world is developing. So I think this is a big development. There is a true upshift happening. Underneath the crisis, underneath the problems that we learn about every day, the wars, the violence, the refugees, all the unsustainabilities that we find today, underneath this all, there is a development. People are beginning to recognize each other and beginning to see each other as a species on earth whose job, whose mission is not only to survive but to help this planet bring force, higher and higher levels of life, of clearance. So I think this is something that's happening. You've got to wake up to it and move. Visit, as the young people say, in the style of wars. Go with the force. The force, yes, the force with evolution.

0:10:48 - Julie

The force be with you, the force within the universe, right, right. Well, I think you bring up a really good point and certainly you're a great example of we don't have to have any formal training in order to use our imaginations and tap into our intuition. I'm an example too. I'm an inventor of surgical devices sold throughout the world. I'm not an engineer, I'm not a medical provider, and yet I was able to do that and lots of other things. So I think we limit ourselves when you agree, because we think, well, we have to have that degree or we have to study this or we have to do that, Whereas when we are led, when we have an idea that comes in and it resonates with us, take a step and follow it and see where it leads. And certainly you've done that many times throughout your life.

0:11:38 - Ervin Laszlo

I've come to believe and I've set documentation for it too that this quantum field which carries information, which are called the Akashic field, like the whole notion of Akashic cells that we mentioned, is a deeper dimension in the world. This is not picked up again in quantum physics. So there is this quantum field which communicates all the information that we need, all the information that we need to have in order to live, to survive, to move forward, and we can most allow it to come, allow it, not suppress it. I think it's there and we know that it's available for us. It's channeling, if you like, but it's in an ordinary, everyday sense. Also, every time we ask a question, every time we allow our intuition to open up, we have the answers coming to us.

The East China's newest, the Buddhist newest, you know, the Indian, ayurvedic thinkers knew this. I think the great spiritual masters of all ages knew it, and now we have to recognize that this is true. This is something that's happening. It's just always guiding humanity. When, in the last 15, 20, 100, 150 years maybe, we have been so enamored with technology and with pursuit of technical innovations and of money and of power, yes, we have suppressed this innate ability to ask who we are and how, what it is that we need to really do something more, to do more than simply gathering power and money for ourselves. That's part of it, that's good to do, but it's not the real purpose of life. The purpose of life, if anything, is to help flower life on earth and on earth, because this corner of the universe is a unique, precious corner. Surely there are other planets with life, but they're far away and they're not on this part of the universe. We are pioneers on this universe as a conscious pieces, and it is our sacred duty I call it to use our consciousness to bring forth this impression, this idea that we together, as a species, can create the higher level of order, of coherence, of guided by love on this planet. And then we know when our consciousness picks that up, our consciousness communicates to all others, because consciousness and every Shluttinger and other great physicists and scientists told us consciousness is one. Now we know that life is one.

What we do affects not only us, it affects everything and everybody around us, especially other people like us who are similarly asking. We all get onto this cosmic internet and we find the way forward. You have been doing that, I think, all your life. You are doing it and it's a great, wonderful service to humanity to show that it can be done. It produces results and if we want to find a way out, we way forward from this crisis, it's not by just amassing the greatest possible interest, power and money for ourselves without regard to others, but is to looking at the whole system, the entire system of life on earth.

How can we be a positive part of that? Sounds like a spiritual, esoteric question, but it's very concrete. Unless we create that basis for flowering life on the planet, we cannot flower and go forward with ourselves. We are part of the system and the system is guided as a whole. This is the old holism which is coming through non-quantum physics as well. The whole system corresponds to all its parts. It sets up the parts. We cannot just concentrate on the parts and forget the whole class size. To get the whole underway, so that it can thrive, so that all parts are collaborating, are coherent with every other part, that oneness which we can create by tapping into our deeper sources and our consciousness, that's what will bring us forward, that's the way forward, and I'm sure that we are beginning to enter it, not just because of all the great challenges that you know and living through the wars, the violence, the injustice, all that is triggering a quantum movement. A quantum movement to finding ourselves, how we can work, live and love together.

0:16:22 - Julie

Well, you mentioned the word love a couple of times in there, and is that how people can tell whether they're being led, if it feels Loving, if it feels good, if they want to know more, versus if they feel like, oh, this feels bad, this, this causes anxiety or whatever? Is love really how we can discern what's worth exploring and how it feels when we hear something?

Absolutely right.

You know, in the scientific perspective what you're looking at the systems that are quantum systems connected to all other systems in the intimate directly, systems that have integrity, that have forness the one word that is best used for that is coherence. A system that is coherent with all other systems around it, communicate with all other systems, feels what's happening to other systems, gives information that other systems can pick up. When that is happening, you know, then we have a feeling, and that feeling to perceptive people, to open people, is the feeling of unconditional love. It's the feeling that we are here to work together with others, in harmony, in Cooperation, and together to move on to the next level of our evolution, which is creating a harmonious and peaceful world emers. That is the Scientific background for what we feel intuitively we are creating more and more coherence in this world. You know how the world just one more world on this how this whole process started it starting 13.7 billion years ago after the big bang. It starts this, but hydrogen nuclei began to associate three electrons in the energy shells around them and creates stable atoms. They joined together to create helium atoms and they went on to the higher and higher, more and more complex elements of of the energy, of the table of the elements, and There'd be all the atoms and they could then the molecules and the shells and the organisms and ecologies. All this 13.7 billion years ago. It started and now it's accelerating More and more.

If you are creating your world, which is interacting Through artificial intelligence, yes, should internet? Yes, but also so feeling when we enter into ourselves, we can communicate I'm sure it's your experience as well. We communicate with each other, we enter into a tremendous network, and the key to that is the sense of oneness, which is communicated through the sense of love. We are here to do things together because we are partners. We are at its fail-for-front. We are pioneers of an evolutionary drive that has been going on in the universe six since the big bang. Now it's moving to the point where, on this planet, evolution can become conscious. This is what my creed, this is my credo. I'm starting a program now called a movement for conscious evolution. We can become conscious of the fact that evolution is driving us towards higher and higher levels of Integrality, of wholeness, of oneness, and the vehicle for that, the motivation for that, is the sense of unconditional, fully dedicated love, appreciation for each other. People are beginning to feel that is a wonderful movement on the way, but people are waking up.

This is a process. This being triggered by all the trial, all the challenges, all the tragedies that's going on at the same time is triggering a change. Nothing is the way it was. Everything is moving and People persisted. People like yourself, the people that you are leading, are showing the way. That's true. The understanding of the R1 and On this planet, we are moving forward to higher levels of coherence, toward, led by our consciousness and led by our intuitive sense of oneness, love. That is the way forward, in not an ideal way, it's an active way. It means being a pioneer, bees being an activist working together consciously. I think it's beginning to happen and it's a very encouraging sign that it is happening.

0:20:54 - Julie

You say everything that's gone on in the past is part of what goes on in the present. How does that help us create? Can you expand on that a little, explain why you think that or why you believe that?

0:21:10 - Ervin Laszlo

Well, the movement on earth is are on the universe altogether. To start, look at the biggest picture Is from chaos to coherence. Very simple to remember that Initially, after the big bang, it was maximum chaos, it was the highest level of entropias, physicists would say. You know, since then, stable entities came about, coherent systems, atoms, molecules, crystals, cells, organisms, ecologies, ecologies, entire galaxies. The movement is towards coherence, from chaos towards coherence.

What went on in the past is continuing today, but today is becoming conscious. We have left, we have arrived at the position on this earth where we can consciously perceive this tremendous drive forward Evolution, the evolution of life, the evolution of planets, the evolution of ecosystems. We are on this planet as an example of what is happening throughout space and time. So what happens in the past is continuing. Today, all of you are moving to higher and higher levels now for the first time in human history. As we are talking about humanity, the human community, how do we respond as humanity to the challenge of a war by Russia in the Middle East, wherever it's happening, all the wars that are going on, say, at the same time? How do we respond to climate change, to heating up of the atmosphere, to the drying up of soils. We respond as a people, we respond as a species, and this is not a local thing, this is a non-local phenomenon. Non-local means that it's what's happening here affects directly, affects what is happening elsewhere. So being part of this is to wake up. Being part of this is to know that we are on this soil, on the threshold of a new stage, a new stage where humanity is consciously becoming a species which is taking in hand its own evolution. We cannot stay the way we were. We cannot stay the way we are now. We need to move forward, because we also cannot go back. We need to go forward and the way forward is the way of evolution, the process that started in the universe all those billions of years ago, and the way it is moving forward, because now it's fast. Now it's becoming consciousness on this planet through humanity. Evolution is becoming conscious. It's a tremendous step forward in this process. But what's on in the past is going on today, we'll go on tomorrow. But if we make it conscious, consciously guide it, then we accelerate it. We're going to make sure that it doesn't derail. Evolution can also go from need to extinction. Evolution can take wrong turns. There's no guarantee that it moves forward. But if you become conscious of it, then we don't let it derail, then we keep it going forward on the right way.

We know the way forward is coherence, is love, so cooperation and working together to maintain the planet is in the limits of sustainability. We now know. Whether it's through the environmental problems, whether it's through the refugee problems, whether it's through the thermodynamic problems or carbon release, whatever, these are all elements of a problem which says we are here to change. We need to change and to go with Gandhi, who said be the change you want to see in the world. Yes, now we need. We ourselves need to become a conscious evolutionary species, a member of the species, and then evolution will pick us up and we move forward because it's ready for it. The world is ready for a positive change. It must go forward, otherwise it will collapse. And here in us is drive, is drive for evolution, is drive which is manifest in us as love seeking, love seeking oneness that is in us. So if we allow it to come forth in guide directions, then we can create what we are meant to be a cooperative, peaceful, planetary species.

0:25:36 - Julie

Is this what you were just talking about, what you're calling the new cosmology, which goes beyond what Einstein discovered? Can you give us a kind of a comparison of what Einstein discovered and how this goes beyond that?

0:25:51 - Ervin Laszlo

Well, quantum physics. It's based on quantum cosmology. You know Quantum physics. Actually, it doesn't pausify, it doesn't contradict anything that Einstein has done. It just built it into a cosmological science.

Einstein has laid the foundations for this idea of space time and evolution in space time. Now, in the new cosmology, we see that the whole universe joins together as one system. That one system means that every part is coherent with every other part. Here and wherever else in the universe, there is contact, there is communication. The words for that that is used nowadays is non-locality.

What we do is not limited to here and now. It's a fact there and then, in the past, in the present, in the future, wherever on earth, in time and in space, it's all joined together in a oneness. But we can make this conscious so that we make it a oneness, move forward in the right direction and not encounter obstacles which can help it or make it break down. Extinction is always possible, but evolution is also possible and if we are conscious of the difference, conscious of what evolution is, then we can make this, put this critical input, the essential kick of cyber-notification, call it the little launch kick or movement that will shift the whole system into that positive mode very smooth forward. It's ready for it and this our consciousness.

We can be that critical mass. That critical mass, as Margaret's media, the anthropologist, said, is always changeable. There's nothing else that she said. We can be the critical mass and there are many elements, many groups beginning to form that look like they become in the critical mass. We help them to join together, we help them become conscious, and then we still find a way. We don't have to make it, we don't have to conduct it, we just have to safeguard it, allow this new development to take place, to continue and to flower.

0:28:09 - Julie

One last question why do we incarnate the?

0:28:14 - Ervin Laszlo

question, I think, my personal opinion on that. I think what we are here for is not limited to one lifetime. What we are here for is to introduce a higher level of life, of coherence and of consciousness on this planet and insert this consciousness as part of the process of evolution in the universe. We are here to make evolution conscious, and that is not a job for a single lifetime. That is something that has to continue. We produce the information. That information that you are producing in a lifetime is a consciousness, is registered in the Akashic field, in the Kouto field, and is there even beyond our physical lifetime. It is there to work and to motivate and to act as a dynamic tendency forward throughout many lifetimes, permanently probably. Life is continuous. Life is not finite. The universe is not finite either, even though it's very, very long and it's moving through different phases.

So I think what we are here for is what the ancients seeers, the great spiritual masters, have always told us to become one with the universe, to become at a higher level of consciousness and help this consciousness, this quantum consciousness, as we now call it, to become an active force guiding development in the universe. So we are a past and present masters, or guidance pioneers. That is our role, and humanity is here to fulfill what I now call the sacred mission. The sacred mission to create a coherent world onwards For all living things. It's a higher level of consciousness, so they can cooperate and move together forward. We can do it, we are beginning to do it. We have to accelerate it and reinforce it. That's our sacred mission.

0:30:26 - Julie

How can people find out more about you and your work?

0:30:30 - Ervin Laszlo

Well, I mean you use my name every last. I mean I was a books. For example, there are ten or twelve websites. My latest books you can look at the internet are called the Survival Imperative, where I describe the practical dimension of what we need to survive and to flourish on this earth. My latest book, we published a couple of weeks ago, is written, co-written, by a certified spiritual leader as a scientist in the world. It's called the Great Upshift. But I talk about this, the upshift, the shifts into the next level of evolution on earth. So look at my every last books, look at my website. You will find the information there.

0:31:14 - Julie

Right, and we'll post all of that in the show notes. What an honor and a thrill for me to get to meet you and talk with you, and thank you for taking the time to share your wisdom and your brilliance with all of us, and I look forward to continuing the conversation another time.

0:31:35 - Ervin Laszlo

So everybody, that's it, I do too. You are a pioneer and a mover forward, intuitively, but scientifically at the same time. If you need people like yourself, let's do it together.

0:31:50 - Julie

I would be honored. Everybody sending you lots of love from Sweet Home Alabama and from Italy, where Dr Laszlo is. We'll see you next time.

0:32:00 - Ervin Laszlo

Indeed all my love and all my greetings to you, for you and for humanity, in which you are a pioneer.
