Julie Ryan, noted psychic and medical intuitive, is ready to answer your personal questions, even those you never knew you could ask. For more than 25 years, as she developed and refined her intuitive skills, Julie used her knowledge as a successful inventor and businesswoman to help others. Now she wants to help you to grow, heal and get the answers you've been longing to hear. Do you have a question for someone who's transitioned? Do you have a medical issue? What about your pet's health or behavior? Perhaps you have a loved one who's close to death and you'd like to know what's happening? Are you on the path to fulfill your life's purpose, no matter where you are in the world? Take a journey to the other side and ask Julie Ryan.

0:00:43 - Julie

Hi everybody, welcome to the Ask Julie Ryan show. It's where we blend spirituality and practicality to help you live a life of purpose and joy. Bradley Johnson's with us today. Bradley's a wireless engineer and researcher who's integrated his technical expertise into the realm of healing energy and frequencies. I'm eager to better understand the mechanics behind Bradley's and my own energy healing practices. You know how I love it when science catches up with woo-woo. Please remember to subscribe, leave a comment and share this episode with your family and friends. Now let's go chat with Bradley. Bradley, so delighted to have you on today. Welcome.

0:01:30 - Bradley

Thank you. Thank you so much for having me.

0:01:32 - Julie

You bet you had a long career as a wireless engineer. How have you parlayed that knowledge into the healing field? I'm eager to hear about your journey and what led you there and how does it relate.

0:01:47 - Bradley

I've always had a fascination and a kind of a drawn towards the wireless industry. I guess I started in normal help desk, you know, like in the early 2000s, just learning how the different you know technologies work and how you help people and the different layers of the OSI model. But no matter what, things just kept drawing me back towards wireless and towards wireless. And the more I worked with technology, the more I understood and I felt good and comfortable around it. And so for multiple years I did wireless deployment systems in health and hospital networks, major sporting arenas, casinos, you name it all over the country where if you had basically a horrible wireless network, you could drop me in within a couple hours I could scan and tell you exactly how to fix all your problems. But using this technology over several years, it started to create a resonance process inside of me of knowing, okay, if we're using waveforms and they can travel, using these types of waveforms and how they propagate, then you know why can't you start using these waveforms positively in the body versus just constantly using them for things like EMF or for wifi or for blanket coverages, as what my you know prior employment paid me to do? And uh, at early 2018, I started kind of doing my own holistic research into the frequency resonance side, researching Royal Raymond Rife, um, how all this kind of managed to come about, and um, that started leading me down the path and the more and more I kind of tuned away from it and just tried focusing on just doing the wireless thing. I just kept getting drawn back to this and so when I started in 2018, I brought my first XM generator and I started experimenting and running programs and stuff like that on myself just to see how I could interact with waveforms in my body. And I ran programs with no real kind of guided direction for several months, not really knowing what I was having any effectiveness with, just throwing kind of everything at it to see what would stick at first.

And one evening I was getting ready for bed and my wife was like dang, baby, you've lost a lot of weight.

And I was like, yeah, right, and she goes no, really you have.

And I was like no way, cause, like we hadn't changed anything. I've been a diabetic my whole life, so I know and control what food I eat. So I was curious as to what would make her think that I had lost so much weight and so I'd gone to the bathroom and tracked down a scale and I found some batteries and I put it in. Sure enough, I was down 35 pounds and all the targeted frequency programs that I had been building had been breaking down one thing and processing it out and breaking down another thing and processing it out, and I was just so in tune with what you put in you know being the only contributing factor to it that I had no idea or understanding that the frequencies that you use to break the bad stuff down that's already in the body as that stuff comes out the normal exit ways, you feel better and better as a result of it. So immediately as I came out of that bathroom, my wife was like, whatever you're doing, I'm next.

0:04:44 - Julie

Yeah, I'm thinking, oh my gosh, the weight loss industry is not going to be your friend.

0:04:50 - Bradley

And again it gets way bigger than the weight loss industry, Like as you're talking about a potential ability to use this type of technology for pharmaceutical drugs as well.

0:05:01 - Julie

All right, let's back up for a minute. First of all, what's an XM technology? What does that mean?

0:05:08 - Bradley

An XM is just a generator. A generator is just the means for how you run the frequency programs out of the Spooky 2 database using different accessories into your body or your DNA. Okay, all right. The generator produces the frequencies that Royal Raymond Reif was using to cure diseases almost 100 years ago.

0:05:27 - Julie

Okay. So again, let's back up a little bit. Tell us a little bit about Rife and how they use frequencies, what their research and what their experience was 100 years ago and how it's led to where we are now.

0:05:43 - Bradley

Royal Raymond Rife is one of those individuals who never, ever, really was credited with his accomplishments From an individual perspective. He had a very, very sophisticated mind. The engineers and the people that worked independently with him said that it was like working with somebody who was 80 years ahead of their time technology-wise. You're talking about a man who built the world's first universal microscope that produced, you know, live visible magnification capabilities in a time frame that had never happened before. So you were never really capable of taking a drop of blood and putting it on a slide and seeing microorganisms move, until he built this device and even to the current day, most of us who have ever used a universal microscope that's something that he created, you know and so, that being said, he used this technology to give him live visibility of microorganisms.

His original interest in studies were in pathogenic studies, and so now he could actually view pathogenic microorganisms moving underneath these slides.

And then, as he started using these frequency generators different types of waves he ultimately created a resonance process that he started to learn and identify that every single microorganism has its own unique resonant frequency, and when you increase the amplitude of that frequency, it would cause that one cell to shatter while all the other healthy cells around it remained completely intact, unimpacted whatsoever.

And so, through this process, in the early 20s and 30s, Reif refined down this methodology of breaking down certain cancer cells using resonant frequencies. In the early 30s he started working with the Cancer Institute and in 1934, he successfully cured 16 stage four cancer patients within about a 90 day period of time, using only high frequency residency plasma sessions to break down the cancer cells inside their body. You know you're talking about an individual that in the mid 40s, was having dinners with some of the highly most intellectual individuals in the country, celebrating the end of all disease, yet wasn't willing to sell out the technology as to how his stuff worked for patent purposes, because you had the rise of organizations like Big Med and Big Pharma and things like that that were starting up along the whole pathway of where we currently are today.

0:08:06 - Julie

Okay, it's interesting you're talking about every organism has a frequency, because in the energy healing that I do and I see things in my mind's eye I connect with somebody energetically through my energy field my spirit is what I call it and then I connect with let's say I was working on you. I connect with your spirit anywhere. Anywhere you could be on a planet far, far away, in another galaxy, and how I believe it happens is my frequency connects with your frequency and every spirit has the same frequency throughout all their lifetimes, which is how we're able to go back and get past life information that we can corroborate with historic documentation that's available a lot of it online so that makes sense with me, to me and in my head, and so when you're talking about, for instance, a cancer cell or a viral cell or something like that, and you tune up the frequency and it makes that cell explode, say more about that. That's fascinating.

0:09:12 - Bradley

So again, Anthony Holland has talked a lot about this. He has a TED talk out there where he talks about how he tried doing the same experimentations as what Reif did in the 20s and 30s, where he would take a certain frequency and try to cause a cancer cell to resonate under observation, and he talked about it, about how he failed horribly. And it wasn't until he introduced an 11th harmonic of the same frequency that those cancer cells under observation started causing the same effect of what Reif created.

0:09:40 - Julie

What's an 11th harmonic? Is that? What does that mean?

0:09:44 - Bradley

It's basically like when you're listening to audio. He was a musician. So a harmonic is a sub or upper harmonic of the exact same frequency. So if you listen to something at, say, 528 hertz that's the standard frequency you're listening to it, but if you're also listening to it on an upper harmonic, like an 11th harmonic, you would be listening to it at 5808.

0:10:06 - Julie

So how do you listen to it on an upper harmonic, like an 11th harmonic? You would be listening to it at 5808. So how do you listen to it on an 11th harmonic?

0:10:10 - Bradley

By using these types of generators to tune different types of frequencies to produce that type of result, similar to what Rife was doing in the 20s and 30s.

0:10:18 - Julie

So it's not like I'm listening to a certain harmonic in my car and then I'm listening to a different harmonic in my home on a bigger stereo system.

0:10:28 - Bradley

No, these harmonics are within themselves, and that's honestly how Rife had so much success. It wasn't just the use of a frequency generator that created one thing to cause the resonance. He was using the frequency generators, but in his time he was running them against fixed carrier waves, am modulation waves and the low waves from the function generator and the high waves of the carrier waves. When those two collided with each other created what Reif referred to as a sideband wave or a sideband resonant wave. That is how he identified the mortal oscillatory rate, or the breakdown rate of every microorganism, of hundreds of hundreds of microorganisms, including all our cancers. Each individual, one of those parasites under observation, has a specific resonance in which it resonates and shatters.

0:11:16 - Julie

This is really fascinating to me, Bradley, for a couple of reasons. First of all, when I'm working with a client and they've got like Hep C or some viral something they look like those little wormy, squiggly things that we saw in grade school or high school, you know, in a drop of pond water under a microscope. And when I'm watching the healing in my mind's eye happen, I watch the insides of the cells just get obliterated. I watch them just get destroyed.

0:11:53 - Bradley

Like everyone is always concerned with the ability to cough or sneeze a disease onto somebody. But a virus originates from within dead cell debris. That means from within inside the cell wall. You'll never take that outside and pass it or sneeze it or cough it or scale or feel that to something else you know like it originates from within inside. So that healing process originates when that vibrational process breaks down that cell from inside.

0:12:18 - Julie

And it looks like those little wormy things underneath the microscope to me. This is in my mind's eye and I get all of these sometimes hilarious analogies, Bradley, to give our human minds a frame of reference for this woo-woo energy healing stuff that's going on. And what I've found is that when I describe what I'm seeing in my mind's eye, if the person with whom I'm working can visualize you know, it's kind of like don't think of the pink elephant Well, if you hear it, you're going to think of it. That's just human nature. But what I find is that when they visualize the healings that I'm describing, it helps integrate it into the body better, quicker, more completely. So I want to hit that in a second.

Back to the virus stuff. It's hilarious because it makes me I laugh. I think I feel like Princess Leia in a Star Wars movie with a lightsaber, because I watch this laser frequency go back and forth on the body. In the front, I watch the hologram of the person turn around. We do it again on the back. It obliterates the virus but it leaves the empty carcasses and then I watch those get sucked out. Does that make sense to you?

0:13:34 - Bradley

It does Because, ultimately, when you target those lower vibrational threats, it doesn't matter what the focus was, whether that's a cancer cell or a Lyme or Epstein-Barr Candida whatever it is that you're targeting when that process happens and it breaks down, it releases toxic and endomicrobe die-off toxic die-off in the body and you will feel die-off and that's you know.

Ultimately, what happens with this, or the ultimate risk of doing this is you do this at a rate faster than the body's detox mechanisms can keep up with, and now, all of a sudden, they're struggling because the die off from everything that you're breaking down is happening faster than they're used to.

0:14:14 - Julie

I see that a lot with clients when they're saying, okay, I did this liver cleanse and I have been sicker than ever in my whole life. I said, well, that's because your body's not able to handle how fast you know it's trying to detox and it's overstressed.

0:14:32 - Bradley

The other organs, you know like you have to think about this your main exit ways, your blood flow and circulation, your liver, kidneys, intestines, your lymphatic systems. When you have one of these main exit ways jeopardized, that compromises everything else. So then when you put stress on those main pathways by doing things like a detoxification where one of those wasn't functioning fully, now all of a sudden the others become compromised because they say, whoa, why is it the kidney responding the way that it was? Why is it having backup? We all thought we were running good and it's because you're having specific issues in that area. You can't just go in there and like that's. The one problem that people often mistake is like detoxification is designed to be delicate and gentle on the body, particularly when you're doing it in those main exit ways. So you don't wanna go in there and do something too hard or too aggressive. You're just gonna cause an even worse reaction because of what you're doing.

0:15:23 - Julie

Yeah, so when I'm doing a healing again, I'm seeing all this in my mind's eyes, like I'm watching a movie in my head, like, let's say, I'll be working on a liver and I'll look at my client from behind.

I've got a hologram of them in my mind so I can see inside their body. I'm like a human MRI and I'll watch a detox of that organ happen and it looks like a spiral picture the Milky Way galaxy Right and it's spinning clockwise as it comes around on the right side, comes down on the bottom, comes up on the left. It's throwing out this sludgy looking stuff, out this sludgy looking stuff and it reminds me of like sewer sludge or like fudge candy that before it's solidified, you know when it's hot and it's coming off the stove. That's what it looks like and as soon as it exits that organ, then it just disappears. It obliterates it. But the other thing that's interesting is, as I'm watching that detoxification and that healing happening, that organ let's say it's the liver is turning back into a beautiful baby pink color, which is what I see when an organ is healthy. Does that make sense to you?

0:16:41 - Bradley

100%, because normally, just like you know, like when people are detoxing their body is their natural exit ways are encapsulating those toxins and ushering them out as effectively and quickly as they can. Normally that's through the form of mucus and saliva and things like, just like what you're describing. It becomes very phlegmy, very liquid, almost as it exits out the body, because it's the body's way of saying whatever this is, it's harmful, it's yucky. We should just protect it and make sure that the pathway out is smooth and easy going.

0:17:09 - Julie

Yeah, well, that's why when people say that they have the runs, they say, oh, I gotta go get some Lamodal or I gotta go get some Pepto-Bismol or something. I'd say, let it run out. Your body's trying to get stuff that doesn't need to be in there out. Your body's detoxing. That's the way to do that. When somebody gets food poisoning, you know they got it coming out. Both ends Same thing. Let the body do what it knows how to do. Now, if it's listening for a week.

0:17:37 - Bradley

If you're, if whatever you have put into the body is causing body, causing nauseousness, causing all these problems, and you're just like you know what we should pepto and clog the hole, perfect.

0:17:47 - Julie

Yeah, yeah, crazy, right. Yeah, I've got that. Okay, let's back up for a minute. I'm so excited to talk to you. I've really been looking forward to this because I know how brilliant you are and I'm like, oh, this is going to be fun to compare notes here with what I'm seeing. I love this saying. Traditional Chinese medicine says that when there's free flow, there's no pain or disease. So say more about that.

0:18:14 - Bradley

Okay, so this is what we're basically referring to with this concept and understanding is just that we all have a flow and an energy to us. That, again, we're energetic beings, we move and we roam around. We put out fields that interact with other people around us. We're just like a battery. We charge ourselves every night, but, just like what we're talking about, we all suffer from different threats in the body and those threats all have their own low vibrational makeup or consistency.

And the moment when you start breaking them down, then all of a sudden the energy that was exhausted to maintaining those and keeping those at bay in the body are no longer active. So those frequencies come up, the intracellular communication between cells comes up. Because you're now no longer dealing with that low vibrational stuff, the more that you can do that and again, generally, your golden rule of rifting is this build yourself a prioritization list and start at the bottom, and once you start at the bottom and work your way up, by the time you get up to your number one threat. Now it's a very one-on-one level fight, because your body and your immune system are being bogged down by all the other stuff. So what we're talking about with this statement is the more that you can remove those lower vibrations and raise up the overall energy. The moment that happens, the vibrational frequency of your cells stops being impeded or interacting with lower vibrational threats like cold and virus.

I know this is 100% the case. Just like I told you, when I started in 2018, 2019, this was right when stuff started getting kind of hectic with regards to breakouts, a certain stuff my wife and I were on a totally different level. Like we were given high fives and hugs, no masks, no, you know. Like we were vibrating in a completely different frequency and over this whole entire time, over the last five years, my wife and I have never been sick, that's. I attribute that simply to the fact that we were resonating with frequencies in our bodies higher than what the lower vibrational frequencies of whatever the stuff was that was going around.

0:20:09 - Julie

Which is interesting because how that relates to the work that I do with perhaps somebody who's lost a loved one and we're communicating with their spirit in heaven. And I talked to somebody this afternoon who had lost her mom a couple of years ago. She said she doesn't come to me and dream, she comes to my relatives. I don't feel her around me, all of that. And I say, well, grief is a low vibration, spirit doesn't have. You know, spirit's a high vibration because it doesn't have the density of a body to slow it down and so when spirit's trying to communicate with you and you're in grief, it's a low vibration and spirit doesn't communicate on the, I feel, crappy channels. Where I make the analogy or the comparison with what you just said is viruses that can cause havoc in our bodies. You said are at a lower vibration than where we are if our vibration is high. Say more about that.

0:21:13 - Bradley

Well, all your healthy cells. They resonate at a higher level. They're unimpacted by the low vibration things that are the actual threats of the body and no different. Each one of those that have an identifiable frequency that says if I run this frequency and break this cell down out of my body and it processes and leaves, then the other cells they come up, you resonate higher, your frequency is on a much higher plane because you're not impacted by lower vibrational stuff like diseases, issues, ailments around you all with lower vibration.

0:21:45 - Julie

Have you found that to be the case with, for instance, orthopedic issues and arthritis and so-called autoimmune kind of issues as well? Is it just the same across the board?

0:22:00 - Bradley

It's really. I mean, it doesn't really matter. It doesn't matter what is impacting or has brought you down to this progressive state the resonant frequencies. Each individual person has their own path and that path is just a process of repairing and restoring that DNA back to its original integrity that it was originally when you were born. That's all you're trying to do is work back that, the integrity of that DNA, and you do that more and more by removing the stuff Again. Some people don't even realize that they have stuff bogging them down. They don't even realize they're saturated in heavy metals, they don't even realize that they're. You know it's like it's not until you break them down and you use systems like this to remove them from your body. That then, all of a sudden, you're changing behavior. Your ability to concentrate and focus on things. All this stuff changes when you're not overwhelmed with the things that you sometimes don't even know are present in your body.

0:22:49 - Julie

Yeah, yeah, I agree. Let's talk about energy fields and chakras and things like that. People say to me well, I don't know if I buy the whole thing about energy fields. And I'll say have you ever heard of an EEG or an EKG? What are they doing? They're measuring the frequency outside of your body. That's exactly what. That's what an MRI is, that's what all of these technologies are.

0:23:15 - Bradley

So talk to us about energy fields, talk to us about chakras, for people who don't know what they are and don't know what they do everybody has a chakra or a balancing of meridians that run through the entire body and when you have issues or ailments, that where one of those chakras is out of alignment, that can then cause problems in the body. So so, keeping your chakras balanced and open your energies flowing, this is how you can effectively make sure that you're living ideal, how you have a healthy lifestyle, you're not being impeded by anything or something's taking away from your quality of life. But again, balancing those different chakras all the way from your base root, you know crown chakras, you know cracking your penile gland and getting this thing wide open so that you can start accepting incoming energies. You know, I am very well and I 100% believe that we, you know, like I said, we cut off energy fields and that's how.

This is 100% the reason why, like if you just thought about this from a basic understanding, if you are two or three people away in a long grocery store aisle and the woman at the register is complaining or she's suffering because she left her checkbook, she doesn't have any money and she's again, she's compassionately upset about the situation, that compassion from her heart will resonate with yours simply if you're within range of her, you know, knowing of the situation, she has her children at hand. You know situations like this. Just hearing the situation, you may not act or move on them, but your heart is still saying, hey, I understand what's the situation she's coming from. I resonate with her situation and in that process, similar to how you connect with individuals, your heart has the ability to interact and connect with individuals around you and their energy fields.

0:24:56 - Julie

How do chakras get out of whack?

0:25:05 - Bradley

Huh, man, there are so many unbalanced things in our world right now that help just unbalance the chakras. You know, again, like injuries, ailments, diseases in the body, again, the mental state and capacity of several individuals, that plays a huge balance with your chakras and your energies. Similarly, if we're in energy form and from a mental perspective, you are focusing on something bad and you're putting out bad and you're concentrating on bad, the only thing that's going to come back to you is bad, and so, whereas an energy that you put out you're constantly focused on good and upbeat and helping and this and being aimed in the right direction, that's the only thing that comes back to you because that's all that you're putting out. You know, but it's really hard to stay in that upbeat, higher vibrational focus.

You know, because what I've always kind of learned is when you're as an individual, we all start at very low vibrations and as you work, the issues and the strength, the threats and you know out of your life from that perspective and you start resonating at a higher frequency, it's very difficult to stay at a higher frequency, you know, like, uh, interacting with individuals that again cause conflict or confrontation. When you do that, what, ultimately? What it taught me over my life is um, I wasn't forcing them to come up to my level and resonate with me. I was lowering my vibration to go down to them and in these interactions they never ended well and I always was primarily the one that you know, later, looking back on the interaction, was more hurt or more upset about the encounter itself, but it was because I chose to drop myself down and interact at that vibrational frequency instead of just maintaining my vibrational frequency and forcing them to come up to me.

0:26:42 - Julie

Well I don't. Can you force anybody to come up to your vibrational level? I don't know that that's possible.

0:26:47 - Bradley

It's not you know, but from that perspective, if you're not willing to come up, then you're not my concern.

0:26:52 - Julie

Well, but it's. I think it's more of a. The only thing we can do is keep our own vibrational level high. That's right.

0:27:00 - Bradley

And that's right. If I attribute my energies, if I attribute my everything to your lesser energy, then I'm lowering and impacting myself as a result.

0:27:22 - Julie

Right. Well, the other thing, too, is that it's been my experience when we're working with different people and they'll say I'll say, you know, your thoughts create your reality. It's the vibration of your thoughts. We're in an attractive universe and they I can just hear their eyes glaze over. I'm not talking to the, you know, I'm not looking at them, but I can, I can hear them. It's kind of like, oh God, here we go, but I have found that to be the case and people say it can't be that easy, it's not that simple. And so talk to us about some real basic things that will vibrate together like metronomes and cells and things like that.

0:27:55 - Bradley

Well, again, you know, like I said, the cells inside your body, they all resonated at a higher vibrational frequency. So when you can get more of your cells resonating at that level, then you produce more of an output, you have more energy, you have more focus, you have more concentration, you know. So the again getting to that point is that's like step 10, you know, like identifying what are your threats, what are your issues, how you use a system like this to then go in and start pinpointing those issues and then start documenting and tracking how you have success. That's how you start raising up those. You know, the cellular communications inside the cells making yourself feel better and again in during that process, as you're doing that, the more energy and the more effect that you have as you, as a result of running through stuff and using these types of frequencies to interact with the things that are bothering you.

Again, each, each and everything. Like when I sit down and I work with somebody on a one on one basis, my initial goal is to sit down and do an assessment and that assessment is basically helping me identify what's on your plate. You know, are you dealing with healing modality pathways? Are you dealing with killing modality pathways. Are we targeting something very serious it's a pathogenic threat in the body, like a cancer, a Lyme, a Morgellon, a fungus, a mold, you know or are we targeting something that is a non-pathogen but still very much impactful and in you know and in your life, like anxiety or depression or emotion, sleeping, you know?

0:29:19 - Julie

You, let's, let's go back to. You said that viruses are not contagious. That's a big statement, because we've all been trained that, oh, you don't want to be around somebody that's got a virus because you're going to catch it and it's inevitable that you're going to get it. And to your point earlier, some people never get the virus, and then other people, whose systems obviously are not as robust from an immune standpoint, seem to be the ones that catch everything. So talk to us more about that.

0:29:51 - Bradley

Well and again, like I said, I think that variation is different from person to person, because some people have higher and or lower immune systems based off of the lifestyle that they live from birth to their current point of where they are. Some people heal a lot faster. Some people are more nutrition with regards to the food and stuff that they choose to put into the body and from that perspective, though, it doesn't change the fact that the threats and the parasites or the contagions that are in the body, they originate from within, inside the cell wall of whatever that cell is. So the ability to transfer that cell regardless, if you do any research into you know germ theory, you know that that's BS, it doesn't. You know you cannot going to cough or sneeze anything onto somebody.

Now, obviously, that that doesn't mean be reckless with regards to your decision-making. Obviously, your open avenues into your body, your mouth, your eyes, you know open, open areas. You want to keep those protected. But at the same time, if your vibrational frequency of your cells are moving at a much higher level, it doesn't matter what you interact with on a lower threat. It will never stand water in your body.

0:30:57 - Julie

Let's talk about blood cells for a minute. I've seen research and actually we've asked the guy who's conducted the research to be on the show Hopefully he'll be on soon when people that are exposed to EMFs, that it can clot the blood, that the blood starts to clot with all kinds of EMFs, and this guy's even done research on the big batteries and electric cars. What are your thoughts about that?

0:31:29 - Bradley

I think that, particularly like those massive lithium ion batteries, are not as safe as people believe them to be. Like, I know that you guys all remember a couple of years ago we used to have phones that were exploding. You know, like this, these, uh, you know, some of these technologies that are out there are not with the best intention of the health and development of people's lifestyles. In them, um, again, electric vehicles and their charging cells, but batteries in general, um, you know, like I said, I personally believe that we're moving towards a, uh, a change in technologies that we will avert away from most of those types of battery driven technologies. Again, I've seen, you know, information regarding things known as zero point energy generators that have, you know, the potential of a Coke can that can sustain life for energy for forever. So something that has that type of potential from a technology advantage or where we may be potentially headed, has the ability to remarkably change several of the energy vectors.

0:32:32 - Julie

What's scalar energy and how can we utilize it?

0:32:37 - Bradley

Oh, now they're talking a whole nother ballpark here. Scalar energy goes all the way back to tesla. Um, scalar energy is ultimately how nikola tesla was going to bring free energy to the world via transmitter and receiver. Um, scalar wave and spooky 2.

Scalar is one of my favorite machines. Um, again, it's very, very, very functional. It has multiple capabilities of things that it can do. But one of the unique things about the scalar it's right here over my. It's very, very, very functional. It has multiple capabilities of things that it can do. But one of the unique things about the Scalar it's right here over my shoulder. It's just these two cases down here.

One's a transmitter, one's a receiver. You plug one into power and you link it to the other one and then, when you tune the signal, you're basically creating yourself an EMF and a Wi-Fi and a 50-60 wiring of the home free environment. This is an ideal situation where, if you set these two cases up, put your DNA inside it, it allows your DNA to heal at an accelerated rate because you're not being bogged down with EMF and with 5G and with Wi-Fi and with all the other stuff that's currently around our active environments that we're tuned into. So scalar is a very, very, very unique Spooky 2 equipment.

Not a whole lot of devices out there claim that they have both Nikola Tesla and rifting technologies in them, but this device actually does have that capability. So tuning the two cases, that's just your pure scalar energy. But if you want to then bring a right frequency into it, you can then enhance the effectiveness of that energy field. So people are sleeping in these fields. I have multiple scalars that I've used for growing environments to put a plant in, to repair the plant in super speed time. It creates an ideal repairing, healing modality approach for accelerating the cellular communication inside your body.

0:34:26 - Julie

When you say you put your DNA inside of the field, what do you mean? You just put your body near it.

0:34:33 - Bradley

Just put your body in between the two cases.

0:34:36 - Julie

Okay, so those two cases are on your table.

0:34:52 - Bradley

If I set them out here. I set one over here on this side and I put another one over here on this. Okay, so those two cases you start your life as a dry erase board and you start cluttering it up with the stuff that fills the board throughout the course of the day. When you sit down in this scalar field, it is like the equivalency of that dry erase marker. It just clears all the fog and everything out of the way. It's super ideal for meditation, for prayer, for focusing, for removing brain fog, for again providing a, an accelerated healing environment. But again, that's just the. The first aspect of it, like the molecular side of it, is that's. That's incredible. You know, like the ability to then take a tylenol if you have a headache and place that onto the receiver tab, you know, coil and draw the effects of that tylenol into the, into the field, without you having to physically take it and then have it take away your headache symptoms. That's incredible. No overdose effects, nothing.

0:35:47 - Julie

Okay, and scalar energy originates from the stars and the sun and all of that. Is that correct? Yeah, okay, absolutely. And then the scalar waves that are in the core of that come from the core of the Earth. Talk about that. How's that all work?

0:36:06 - Bradley

So, again, you know like the Earth originates energy and it does that in the form of a wave, and Tesla, during his time again, was working on inventions even when he was working for JPMorgan Chase as a way of harnessing that energy and then producing it out to different devices as a means for wireless travel or lifestyle on an energy-free plane. We're basically talking about atmospheric ether and, again, depending upon how far back you go to research, the Tartarians built several of their buildings that basically soaked up atmospheric ether. They ran off of that ether. That's how their lighting systems work, that's how everything was fully accessible and powered, and but, like I said, you do have to do a little bit more digging and to try to dig down into the Tartarian time frame to kind of learn and understand. But that's what they're talking about is people once had technologies that were far advanced and far beyond what we're using today, where they were using the energy of the earth for way greater means and capabilities.

0:37:13 - Julie

Change directions for a minute. You say, frequencies can affect our dreams. Say more about that.

0:37:19 - Bradley

Oh, yes Again. You know, like a lot of the time when we are trying to recharge our batteries every night, we're trying to let the hecticness of the day wash out and you let that body get down into the deeper restorative levels of sleep to help repair and do its kind of. You know heavy lifting for the night, but a lot of us don't ever really reach that level because of the things that we have going on in our lives and you know our thought patterns. The dreams that we think about can often cause us to have troubles with sleep. You know, and you do that multiple nights in a row and then all of a sudden it starts really paying attention or impacting the way of your life.

Having frequencies that you know the ability again, whether you're doing them via scalar and bringing them in while you sleep or you're bringing them in via remote. You know any method where you don't have to be physically connected to something. You just put your DNA inside it and let it run sleeping of programs. I've done this for tons and tons and tons of clients, like had problems staying asleep through the course of the night or had problems getting up with excessive urination. You just run frequency programs to help keep your mind and body asleep throughout that course of the night.

0:38:25 - Julie

So if somebody, a man, obviously has a prostate issue, are you running a frequency that's going to help heal the prostate, in addition to let's keep him asleep for a number of hours?

0:38:40 - Bradley

Remember, like from my perspective, if I'm working with you on a one-on-one basis, if you have a prostate issue, I'm putting you directly into a cancer-type protocol where I'm running programs specifically to go after prostate continuously, but when I'm not targeting programs that are going after prostate, I am running detoxification or sleeping modality programs to help heal and repair the body. At the same time and or parallel to just the focus of killing, killing, killing the prostate.

0:39:08 - Julie

Do you have certain protocols for different types of cancer, different types of illnesses, or is it just all cancer? Or are you like different frequency, or lung cancer versus ovarian cancer versus prostate cancer?

0:39:24 - Bradley

Not necessarily so much relevant to the cancer itself, and that's primarily just because it doesn't matter what the cancer type is, you know, doesn't matter the type of the severity or the location of it itself. If it is a cancer, it has a resonant frequency. That resonant frequency can be identified, broken down and then removed from the body, and all that without impacting the healthy cells around it. So there's a process for it. But again, cancer has its own particular type of protocol, Whereas if you were dealing with something different, let's say Lyme, Lyme would have its own protocol because it's way more. It has way more kind of subcategories of things diseases, co-infections, viruses, things that you would have to target, you know, as part of that protocol. That would be different than something like what you would be trying to primarily focus on if you were addressing cancer.

0:40:17 - Julie

Which brings up what we were talking about earlier in our conversation about the viral thing. You said the virus isn't contagious, it only originates inside the body. And then you said but we have to protect the body openings so that those are the avenues through which the virus can enter. So why would the virus not be contagious if it can come in through?

0:40:37 - Bradley

If it's resonated at a higher frequency, it's of no threat whatsoever. But again, common sense would say don't put yourself or don't make accessibility when you don't have to.

0:40:47 - Julie

Okay, all right, that makes more sense. What's quantum entanglement and how does it relate to DNA?

0:40:55 - Bradley

Quantum entanglement is awesome. Quantum entanglement is the ability to take a piece of your DNA Like, for example, this little piece right here is a piece of my fingernail. I cut this last night and I put this into my remote for a presentation that I did last night on 717, as you see, that piece of my fingernail when I put this into this remote, the process of quantum makes sure that when I run frequency programs on that DNA of my fingernail inside of here, it impacts the DNA inside my body, regardless of how far I am away from this, I can go anywhere in the world and this process, when it's impacting that DNA, impacts my DNA.

0:41:33 - Julie

So if somebody's going to work with you, they have to send you a little chunk of their fingernail.

0:41:38 - Bradley

Yeah, sometimes, depending upon, like, what we're doing or how we're addressing stuff, normally you'll send me some type of fingernail sample and once I get that sample I'll reach out to you and say, hey, this is where I've got you lined up and I talk with my clients very routinely to make the adjustments necessary for what's going on in their lives. For all 65 of them.

0:41:57 - Julie

Okay, all right. So let's talk about this machine that you use. What's the history of it? How does it work? Obviously, you're very knowledgeable. Obviously, you're brilliant.

0:42:17 - Bradley

Obviously, you're very knowledgeable. Obviously you're brilliant. Obviously you are resonating with this machine and you're seeing tremendous results. So tell us about that $50 Gen X Pro as methods of how you introduce frequencies into your life using their software that you use to break down and remove threats from the body. These are the two main generators that ultimately come with all of their kits. All the kits have all these different accessories. The accessories are just the different methods for how you get frequencies into the body. Whether you're using TENS pads or hand cylinders, or you're using a PEMF coil to pulse it into your body, or you're using cold laser. There are multiple methods of how you introduce those frequencies, depending upon what type of issue or threat you're trying to address.

0:43:05 - Julie

So if you have one of those machines that we talked about before with the scalar waves and you're in between them, is it feasible that you could put them on opposite sides of your kitchen on opposite sides, let's say, of your kitchen table and they're going to affect everybody sitting at the kitchen table, or do they just affect everybody that's in the house? Is there a range?

0:43:32 - Bradley

There is a range and the range is primarily determined by the link cable. The link that you know the distances between the transmitter and the receiver helps define the size of that bubble. So if you're creating a scalar field and you set the two cases roughly 20 feet apart, you're creating roughly a 10 foot you know football bubble in diameter and shape of how big that scalar field is going to be. But just like you said, assuming having friends or family over, set that on either side of the house and link the whole thing. It'll process through walls, through metal, through door, through wood and you could turn the whole house into a scalar field.

0:44:04 - Julie

And then what about the, like you said, the fingernail thing? How does that work that it obviously the person's not with you but it's able to recognize the frequency of the DNA that it's picking up from the fingernail?

0:44:21 - Bradley

Yeah, do you remember like when people were, when children were young, they used to have these walkie talkies that were just a cup with a string on the end of them. That's all it was. It wasn't anything technological, it was just simple and easy. But the reason why that worked so well from a communication aspect is because the two were connected. You could go as far as you wanted, to, even one house to the next house, and you could still talk and hear and communicate with each other. That's no different than the DNA in your body. Even if you take a piece of it and you separate it out, the moment that you talk or communicate or run frequencies on it, it's still connected to your body. All those frequencies are still heard on the other end of that cup.

0:44:57 - Julie

Because we all have a frequency that we keep throughout all our lifetimes. What we go back to, that we discussed earlier.

0:45:04 - Bradley

And that frequency is primarily a makeup of all the healthy cells and or what's currently bogging down your immune system with the low vibrational threats, whatever it is.

0:45:14 - Julie

And our spirit has the same. It's been my experience that our spirit has the same frequency throughout all of our lifetimes and that's how we're able to access past lives, because we're going into the frequency of that spirit, which is separate from the body, but it's all holographic when we're alive, when our spirit's connected to our body, but even when somebody dies and their spirit's in what I call heaven, we just think of them. I always say that our heads are like big satellite dishes and they receive and they transmit frequencies. So in order to be in touch with a spirit, you just think of them. It doesn't matter whether you know them or not, you just think of them, like I was thinking of John Carroll and Ben Franklin and those guys. Okay, last question why do we incarnate?

0:46:07 - Bradley

I do think that we're all living energies and that the potential, like my understanding, is that you know, like, let's assume that your life, as a living energy soul, you live and conduct your life in such a manner and such a means that either is or is not of becoming a life in heaven, and when you're in front of the higher ups with regards to your first judgment, meaning you've already lived a long and successful life and now you are passing um, you're passing into your first judgment. If you have not lived a life that is equivalent, that of someone who's earned the rights into heaven, then I think you're sent down, with regards to that soul and that energy, into another force, you know, and so I think that reincarnation process sends you back down to re-deal with and re-correct the things that you didn't get right the first time through another you know, a totally different perspective.

0:47:04 - Julie

Well, Bradley, what a fabulously fascinating conversation with you today, sir. What a fabulously fascinating conversation with you today, sir. I appreciate your brilliance and your knowledge about all of this energetic stuff and I love how it correlates with the work that I do and the experiences that I've had working with tens of thousands of people over the years. How can people learn more about you and your work?

0:47:31 - Bradley

The easiest way to find me is my website. That's like the word frequency, it's fre-q.com. That's my website. Again, my purpose. I feel very fortunate and very blessed. My life right now. I'm one of the few individuals that I wake up and I live a happy life every single day. I love what I do, I'm very passionate about it, I love helping and talking to people about this, and I think that's primarily because I've been woken to my purpose. My purpose is to help people, and so I'm trying to get as much information out to as many people that can benefit from it as humanly possible, and so I'm very grateful for the opportunity to be on here today. I highly, highly, highly encourage people, even if you're on the fence of this, as to whether or not you think this is right for you. You'll know because it'll continue to resonate in your life and continue to resonate and continue to resonate. And once you finally decide to answer that, then reach out to me and I'll be able to help you get there.

0:48:24 - Julie

Okay, all right, we'll share all that in the show notes and all of that. Alrighty, everybody. That's it for today. We're sending you lots of love from Sweet Home, Alabama, and from Missouri too, where Bradley is. We'll see you next time.
